CHINA AND GLASSWARE.

QUEER WAY TO STOP A PLAGUE.-Several reports regarding the plague in China have been received at the Marine Hospital Bureau. Secretary Denby, of the United States Legation, says that at Canton a novel and thoroughly Chinese method of checking the disease was hit upon. A fortune teller, having given out that the plague would die away with the approach of the spring solistice, the people of Canton, in order to deceive the Gods of Sickness, made the first day of the fourth moon (May 5) their New Year's day. Every ceremony by which the day is celebrated was gone through with scrupulous exactitude. The local authorities assisted in this farcical performance. The New Year's festivities in the presence of such widesdread death had a somewhat ghastly character.

Consul Seymour, writing from Can-ton, says everything continues in wild confusion. Business is almost suspended. He has been in nearly all parts of Canton during the plague, and has remained at his post throughout it all, and is persuaded that with the observance of proper precautions, especially in securing a supply of pure water for cooking and washing, and for flushing drains in time of drought there should and would be no such thing as this plague, except where the natives, in ongested localities, cause pollution of air by over-crowding and filth and violation of sanitary conditions for safety.
During all of the plague heathen processions have constantly marched the streets of Canton throughout the night pounding gongs, exploding firecrackers, exposing idols and other similar doings, supported by contributions from the shops and stores, to propitiate their
